Displays Promote Homecoming Spirit

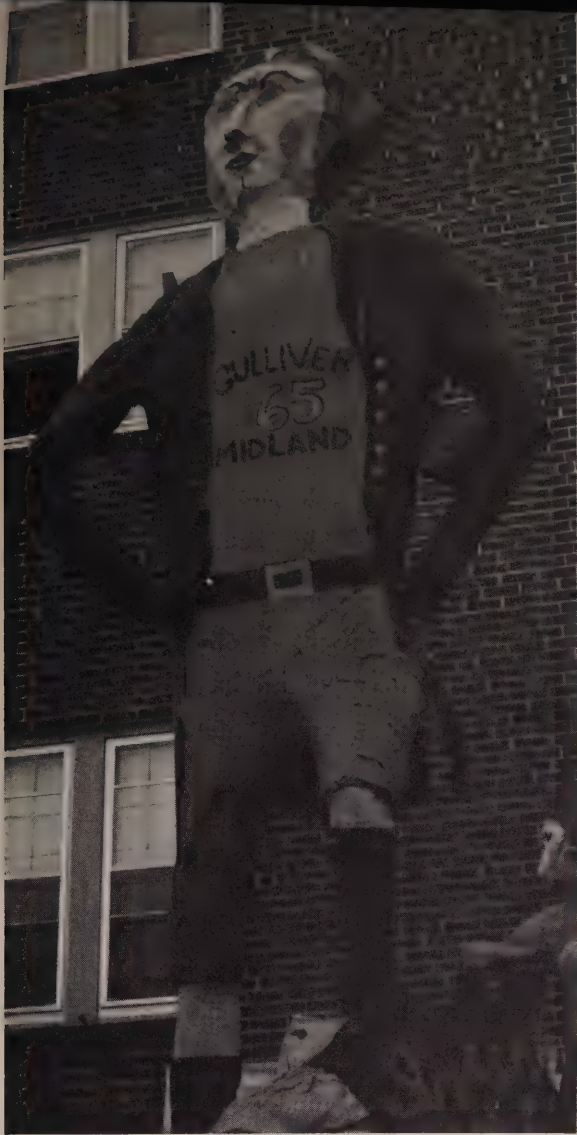

Alpha Psi Omega's animated display, based on an original fairy tale, wins first place.

"Adventures in Wonderland" was the theme chosen by Homecoming chairmen Carolyn Sullivan and Larry Christensen. Saturday morning, post-graduates, friends and relatives returned to see Barbara Rankin crowned Homecoming Queen, with Gail Mortensen and Brenda Traeder as princesses. Back for the twenty-fifth year, the "Little Giants" gathered for the festivities. The Warrior grid met and destroyed the Dana Vikings, 14-0. At half-time the display winners were announced with first place going to Alpha Psi Omega, a new participant in the display contest. The winning theme was "The Viking and the Warrior Spirit". Second place went to Kappa Phi, "Stop the Vikings," and third to Phi Omega, "Wizard of Oz." That night at the dance the Petrow Award was presented to Dennis Dau, '66, for his outstanding athletic career at Midland. Maurice Prauner, '66 and Mike Draemel, '68 were runners-up. The Homecoming activities were completed on Sunday with the all-college worship in Griffith Memorial Chapel and open house in the dormitories.

Honoraries Sponsor Tree Burning

Cardinal Key National Honor Sorority developed worthy character this year by application of the Cardinal virtues to living. A special community project was the adopting of thirty-eight elderly people at the Dodge County Hospital Annex. Blue Key National Honorary was an aid to education by providing intellectual discussions on currently read books.

The national honoraries combined in service projects as ushering for Parent's Day. Twelfth Night Christmas Tree Burning Ceremony was sponsored by both groups for the first time at Midland. Tapping of new members took place during chapel period in early April.

Pi Kappa Delta Honors; Debaters Win Trophies

Members of Pi Kappa Delta, national honor society in forensics, are selected for their outstanding records in discussion, debate, oratory and other types of public speaking.

The Midland debate team, under the direction of Mr. Glenn Smith, has traveled over the Mid-west to participate in various tournaments. The freshman team of Mike Sehestedt and Sue Osborn won a trophy in every tournament they entered. One trophy was taken by Jack Longbine, Wally Schmidt, Mike Sehestedt and Sue Osborn as a debate team of four.

Students Honored For Outstanding Service

Pi Delta Epsilon is the national honorary journalism fraternity. Midland journalists from the staffs of THE MIDLAND, THE WARRIOR and BITS OF FLINT are eligible for consideration by Pi Delta Epsilon after one full year of staff work and after having made some outstanding publication contribution. The Midland chapter tapped new members and elected officers at the May banquet.

Alpha Psi Omega, national honor society in the field of drama, tapped new members at the Puppets and Players banquets in both May and December. This year Alpha Psi Omega presented the winning homecoming display and held a homecoming breakfast for alumni.

IRC Brings Speakers To Campus Convocations

Midland's International Relations Club sponsored many Monday morning convocations throughout the year which featured such notables as Dr. Paul Schach, Dr. Ross Horning and Mr. Colin Jackson. Gene Muller, a 1965 graduate of Midland, showed slides and gave a commentary on his trip to Brazil. A film shown in December on Sweden was followed by a student discussion period. Panel discussions and debates were held to allow members to express their own opinions and to broaden their knowledge. Dr. Orville Zabel and Mr. William Christensen served as co-sponsors of the organization.

SEA Collects Toys For Needy Children

Any student who is receiving undergraduate or graduate preparation for the initial teaching responsibility is eligible to join the Student Education Association at Midland. The purpose of the organization is to provide opportunities for personal and professional growth, development of leadership skills, understanding the history and program at state and national levels and participation in professional activities at state and national levels. One of the main projects of SEA this year was the collection of toys for needy children in the Fremont area.

Business Club Surveys

Downtown Establishments

A survey was made by members of Phi Beta Lambda this year to discover the various types of office machines used in each of the local business establishments. Any student taking a business or economics course at Midland is eligible to join Phi Beta Lambda. Ron Freeman served as the state's president of the group and Patty Rhoades was the state secretary. After each meeting a local businessman gave a short talk to the group. Members attended the state convention held in February and installed their new officers at a banquet in the spring.

Service Projects Occupy LSA Throughout Year

Lutheran Students Association members were kept busy with various service projects this year. A picnic welcomed old and new members in the fall. LSA sponsored guest speakers including Dr. Clemens Zeidler, President of Northwestern Seminary in Minneapolis, Minnesota. The film, "The Cardinal," was also sponsored by the group in December. Panel discussions were held in which LSA members related their experiences gained through various summer jobs. Mr. David Amland conducted the group on a tour of wood print paintings that were on display all around the campus area. A regional mid-winter conference was held at Bethany College in February.

German Club Members Carol at Christmas Time

Members of the German Club celebrated its twentieth anniversary this year. As the Christmas season arrived, strains of German Christmas carols filled the air. The club sang around the campus, at hospitals, rest homes for the aged and individuals homes. Miss Maria Rosenblatt, Mr. Norman Lewis and Mr. Martin Trautrimas sponsored the group again this year. The main purpose of the club is for fun and fellowship and to learn more about the German culture and heritage. German students are given an opportunity to put the language to practical use that they learn in the classroom.

Journalism Publications Strive For Excellence

Another year gone and Midland's three publications can relax after the hectic work to meet deadlines is over. THE MIDLAND donned a new appearance this year with an increase in the size of pages. The change allowed more space for more news published in each Friday morning edition. Features like the Culture Vulture and Andy's Cat kept students well informed about campus happenings. WARRIOR staff members strived to meet each deadline promptly and accurately hoping for another All American rating which the 1966 yearbook received. Under the direction of Mr. Herman Gimmestad, BITS OF FLINT published examples of the best literary works by Midland students. Long hours of limiting the works resulted in the creative magazine published in the spring.

Sometimes you just can't seem to win, thinks Midland co-editor Terry Trenkle as the papers fall slowly to the floor.

Choir Sings Over Network TV

Seventy Midland students were members of the A Capella choir this year. The first major performance was the Fine Arts Campus Christmas presentation. During second semester, Midland's 1966-67 touring choir made pre-tour performances in Nebraska and Iowa. A distinctive honor was bestowed upon the members when Midland's A Capella Choir was named the Midland-Nebraska Centennial Choir. Representing Nebraska, the members made prominent men admirals in the Nebraska Navy. The Midland-Nebraska Centennial Choir toured the West Coast from Vancouver, British Columbia, to Washington, Oregon and California. The highlight of the tour was when the members sang for the Rose Bowl Sunrise Service in Pasadena, California, over a national television network. For relaxation the group spent a free day in San Francisco and Disneyland. The Chapel Choir replaced the Repertory Singers. Making its first Christmas appearance, the Chapel Choir sang under the direction of Mr. Eugene Nelson. Throughout the year, the Chapel Choir performed for Chapel services during the week and on Sunday.

Dwellers Make Admirals; Band Tours Area

The Midland College Clef Dwellers under the direction of Mr. Gene Nelson were especially honored by an invitation to perform for Governor Tiemann's Inaugural Ball. Afterwards, they were made Admirals in the Nebraska Navy. The twenty vocalists presented their performance at the Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln. Other appearances were made at state and national conventions. One evening, while performing out of town, the group met both Miss Nebraska and Miss America. In the spring, the Clef Dwellers joined the choir tour to the west coast. A square dance routine was added to their standard repertoire.

The college band was busy presenting six high school convocations in area towns. Football and basketball games were also sparked by their lively music. The band entertained at two chapel convocations, in addition to the special Christmas convocation at which the Christmas story was told to music. The annual public Christmas concert was also on the agenda.

One Acts, Tour Occupy Winter, Spring Season

Midland's drama department gave a variety of fine performances under the direction of a new drama instructor, Mr. John Gill. In November, Thornton Wilder's play, "Skin of Our Teeth," opened for a three day run. Satirical implications and a unique disappearing set made this a memorable show. February marked the presentation of two contemporary one act plays, "Impromptu" by Ted Mosel and Edward Albee's "The Zoo Story." A spring tour through three states rounded out the year with appropriate Holy Week presentations of "Eyes Upon the Cross" by Donald Mueller. Council Bluffs, Iowa, Wyoming and Denver, Colorado were on the agenda.

Drama Presents One Acts

Two one-act plays presented from the realm of truth and illusion were presented on February 9 and 10 by the drama department under the direction of Mr. John Gill. "Impromptu" involved the revelation of four separate characters of actors and actresses as they work to put together a script. Marilyn Karloff, Tim Larson, Jim Raasch and Sondra Walker performed the four roles and Paula Brislen was student director. "Zoo Story" portrayed the dominance of the lower class by the upper. The two characters were played by Ed Kovar and Errol Woolen. Janet Vaughan was student director.

"Eyes Upon The Cross" Tours Four State Area

Lights, action, curtain going up on another season for Puppets and Players. Hard work by the group successfully produced the plays "Skin of Our Teeth" and the one acts "Zoo Story" and "The Impromptu." The purpose of the organization is promotion of drama on campus. Members are expected to learn through experience, which is the best teacher. Banquets were held in December and the spring at which students were initiated as Players or the honorary fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega. The annual drama tour took players through Iowa, Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska. This year's production was Don Mueller's "Eyes Upon The Cross."

Warriorettes Strive to Promote School Spirit

Freshman girls and upperclassmen were greeted by Warriorettes in the fall with a picnic held in the gym. New members were required to earn 100 points by the end of football season and to pass a written examination in order to become members. Points were earned by attending home and away games, making posters, attending pep rallies and selling mums at Homecoming. In November, six freshman girls were tapped into Warriorettes. Uniforms remained the same as last year, with girls wearing black v-neck sweaters and black skirts. Warriorettes provided the candidates for Homecoming Queen, M-Club Sweetheart and the varsity cheerleaders. Activities sponsored by the organization included a Warriorette-M Club dance and an ice cream social in the spring.

S C Activities a Success

Council Initiates SSB

The fall of 1966 marked the first year the Student Standards Board began operation. Formed the year before, the Board carried out the duties of evaluating the conduct of students on campus. In November, the annual Campus Chest Week was sponsored by the council. Climaxing the week was the Campus Chest Carnival held in the gym. This year competition was held among classes to select a Miss or Mr. Personality. Voting was done by the donation of pennies for the candidates at the carnival. Council also sponsored the blood drives in the fall and spring with over 150 students donating. Other activities the Student Council were responsible for throughout the year included the Homecoming activities and the all school Christmas party.

Augustine Hall Changes; Houses Freshman Girls

Augustine Hall wore a new face this year as it housed over 75 freshman girls. Augustine had been a men's dorm. New rules passed by the Women's Dorm Board included room check nightly at 10:30. Candy, pastries and pop corn were sold in the dorm to raise money for the Campus Chest Fund. With the new girl's dormitory, center rooms in Beegle were made into study rooms, storage rooms and smokers for the girls. Spot room checks by the housemothers caught many girls off guard in their untidy rooms. Plans were revealed for the construction of a new girl's dormitory that will be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1967.

Kathy Turnquist gets in the spirit of Halloween by decorating her door in Augustine.

Men Occupy New Dorm; Gunderson Hall Full

Construction of the new men's dorm across the street from Men's Memorial Hall was completed in September. Over 125 men filled the rooms of the dorm which was named Gunderson Hall. Gunderson, with its five stories, became the tallest building on Midland's campus. The "Corner Pocket" in Men's Memorial began its second year. Although the hours were changed, the facilities remained the same. Freshmen were soon oriented to dorm life in Men's and North Hall by helpful upperclassmen.

Two Greek Organizations Added To ISC-IFC

Because of the increased enrollment at Midland, two new Greek organizations were added to the Inter-Sorority and Inter-Fraternity Councils. Delta Tau was the new sorority and Theta Alpha Psi was the new fraternity. Pledging rules and procedures remained the same this year. Men signed their choice of bids while girls received bids on a matching basis.

Students were required to earn a 2.0 by mid term in order to be eligible for pledging. ISC and IFC co-ordinated their rush programs again this year. The annual Inter-Sorority Formal was held December 2. Greek Games were sponsored in the middle of May.

Elves Leave Gifts

Phi Alpha started the year with a homecoming display entitled "Toasting a Victory" and a Homecoming breakfast for alumnae. In October KAL and Phi Alpha sponsored a bare-foot dance in the school gym. Late October was the setting for the Phi Alpha rush tea. "All in a Golden Afternoon." "Mother Goose Land" was the theme of the rush party. Parents were welcomed to campus November 5 with a tea after the game. Little surprises were found a Phi Alpha doorsteps the week before Christmas and the elves who left these were disclosed at the Christmas party. Theta Alpha Psi and Phi Alpha had a carolling party at the Masonic Home. Seventeen pledged Phi Alpha, studied the sorority and were subjected to hell week before formal initiation on February 19. The pledges held a "Happiness is . . ." party for the actives before formal initiation. Other highlights of the spring included a chili feed, a steak fry dinner date and competition in Greek games.

Rush, Greek Games Fill Phi Omega Schedule

Phi Omega captured third place with their Homecoming display centered around the Wizard of Oz entitled "The Wicked Viking is Dead." Phi O's also sponsored their annual dance with the Sigma Rhos following the Homecoming pep rally and bonfire. In October Phi O's entertained rushees at their Swedish tea, "Kaufee Och Sju", while their rush party was centered around a roaring twenties theme. In November, nine pledges were taken by Phi O's. Other yearly activities included a spring dance with the Kappa Phis and church with the KALs. Phi O's sponsored a Parent's Day Tea for sorority members in November. The annual cake walk at the Campus Chest Carnival raised money for Midland's drive. Highlighting spring activities was the traditional dinner date on April 28 and an outing in early May.

Pi Eps Adopt Orphan; Hold Easter Egg Hunt

Pi Epsilon welcomed prospective sorority sisters in October at their rush, "L' apres-midi A' la Mode." Following their rush party of "I Wish I Were," Pi Eps welcomed fifteen new pledges who were formally initiated in February. Pi Eps centered their Homecoming display around "Gulliver's Travels." At the Campus Chest Carnival, the Pi Eps raised money with their coin toss. December found Pi Eps tobogganing with KALs. Pi Ep pledges won first prize in the sorority Christmas decorations competition for their decorating of the Beegle Hall foyer. They also went Christmas caroling with Kappa Phis. This year the sorority adopted an orphan in Mexico and held an Easter Egg Hunt for the children in the Masonic Home. Spring was highlighted by the annual Pi Ep dinner date in late April, an outing and Senior Tea on May 14.

“Rhapsody In Roses,” “Sounds Of Tri Phi,” Are Sorority Themes

Initiating the year with a picnic in early September, Tri Phi displayed “Willie in Victoryland” for the ’66 Warrior Homecoming. In Mid-November following a “Rhapsody in Roses” rush tea and a “Sounds of Tri Phi” rush party, 21 pledges were secured. During the same week Tri Phi sponsored a dunking stool at the Campus Chest Carnival. Along with Delta Chi fraternity, Tri Phi held a Christmas party centered on a Spanish theme. During pledge season they exchanged pledges with KAL fraternity. February 15 the pledges entertained the actives at a “Bye Bye Pledging” party which followed formal initiation February 12. Tri Phi, not inactive during intramural season, carried off first place in Women’s Intramural Volleyball for the second consecutive year. Spring activities included the annual Tri-Phi-Kappa-Phi style show April 1. Other spring activities consisted of an April 14 dinner date, a steak fry and a beach party with KALs.

Delta Tau Fills Need; Gains 15 Pledges

To fill the demand for a new sorority on Midland's campus Delta Tau was organized early in the year. During the summer, letters had been sent to girls testing interest in the proposed venture. A nucleus of five charter members Ruth Boettcher, Kathy Christensen, Sue Hollyday, Polly Jarabek and Thelma Moeller began the preliminary groundwork assisted by sponsor, Mrs. Marcia Youngquist. Delta Tau officially entered the scene the week before Homecoming. For this event Delta Tau exhibited a display entitled "Arrived: A Victory for MLC." Continuing with organization work, colors adopted were powder blue and white. A pink carnation was selected as flower. Following a rush tea at Dean Sic's house the Taus pledged fifteen new members. Pledges later entertained at a party for actives centered on the theme "Babes in Toyland." As a project for the College, members painted the laundry room floor in Beegle Hall.

Delta Chi Wins First Place in MIM Football

Delta Chi fraternity, descendent of the Wynn Literary Society founded in 1890, worked their way toward a 1966 Greek Games triumph with their sorority partner. Conducting their hell week for 1966 pledges in late September, the Chis became integrated. Following two rush parties 12 more fledglings were pledged. At Homecoming Chis provided Warriorland with the display, "Pandora's Box." A few weeks later the blue and gold stormed to a first place win in Men's Intramural Football sporting an undefeated record. Social events scheduled in the spring included the KAL-Delta-Chi formal in Omaha April 21. Other activities included a steak fry, functions with the sororities and an election of officers for the coming year.

KALs Take 13 Pledges; Display Depicts Peter Pan

In November ten men pledged Kappa Alpha Lambda and three more were added in February. KALs sponsored an after the game dance with Phi Alpha in addition to an activity with Phi Omega. In November the KALs attended a hockey game in Omaha with the Kappa Phis. KALs participated in campus activities with their "Peter Pan" Homecoming display and their basketball throw at the Campus Chest Carnival. Christmas time found the KALs co-sponsoring tobogganning with Pi Eps. Second semester KAL actives exchanged their sons for Tri Phi pledge daughters for one week, following a breakfast and go to church. Highlighting the year's activity included the traditional co-sponsorship of the KAL-Delta Chi Sweetheart Dance. In the spring the KALs held a campout for members and a KAL-Tri Phi beach party. The year ended with a farewell breakfast honoring all senior actives.

Building a ship on dry land can be difficult but KALs accomplished it for Homecoming.

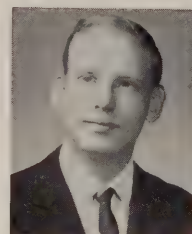

Winning second place with the "giant and the beanstalk," K Phis streak of three winning years was snapped.

K Phi Display Second; Win Class A B-Ball

Kappa Phi captured second place with their Homecoming display entitled "Stop the Vikings." Intramurals also found the K Phis winning first in the class A basketball division. Miss Helen Bass was crowned Sigma Phi Sweetheart at the annual co-sponsored Sigma Phi Ball. The formal was held on December 10 in the New Tower at Omaha. Pledging found ten men joining the Kappa Phi ranks who carried on the board meal tradition at the Commons. Kappa Phis helped raise money at the Campus Chest carnival with their milk bottle-tennisball booth. The Sounds LTD from St. Joseph, Missouri provided music for the annual K Phi Shabby Shag. April 1 the Kappa Phis and Tri Phis held the traditional style show with members of both groups modeling the latest fashion trends. Various activities of the group included a hayrack ride, a beach party, and a steak fry in May. Kappa Phi members helped collect money in downtown Fremont during the drive against Multiple Sclerosis.

Sigma Rho Co-Sponsors Formal Dance In Omaha

In November, seventeen men pledged Sigma Rho fraternity. Highlight of the year for the Rhos was the Sigma Phi Ball held in Omaha. For Homecoming they built a display entitled "Stop the Vikings," sponsored a dance with Tri Phi after a basketball game and entertained their alumni at an after-the-game coffee. At Campus Chest Carnival they sponsored a golf putting game. Monthly activities included attending church as a fraternity and holding meetings in the Private Dining Room of the Commons. During the year Rhos also held functions with each of the five sororities. The year ended with a steak fry held at the lakes and the election of officers for the coming year.

Men Form Fraternity; Theta Alpha Psi Results

Theta Alpha Psi, Midland's newest social fraternity, was formed because of the need for another Greek organization. First activity on campus for the group was a dance with Pi Epsilon. By the time of November pledging, Thetas consisted of nine actives supplemented by five pledges. These five entered as actives because of the organizational work. While busily concentrating on writing a constitution and planning a pledge program, Thetas found time for a pizza party and a caroling function with Phi Alpha sorority. Members adopted the colors of burgundy and gold and purchased burgundy blazers. Chosen as a motto was "The light of truth leads," motto of William H. Clemmons, founder of what became Midland College. February pledging secured nine prospective members and provided a test for the pledge program. Spring activities for the 23 Thetas included a formal dance April 21 in Omaha, steak fry and election of officers.

Midland's 1966 football season was beset by stunning victories and humiliating defeats. Suffering the first losing season in six years Midland experienced what most young teams must — defeat. Mid-season the Warriors began to roll defeating conference foes Dana and Sioux Falls. Midland's lone non-conference victory was Nebraska College Conference champions Wayne State. The Warrior attack offensively was again led by team captain Bruce Green. This record holding senior rushed for a total of 507 yards, and averaged 4 yards per carry. Backing up this fine fullback were a total of 11 first year men. The seeds are young but now have been planted. To germinate it will take experience, defeat, victory, injury, mental anguish and confidence. These are the life blood of a true champion team. Midland football was all of these in their 1966 season.

Harriers Pace To Second Place

Cross country is a struggle against muscle control and the natural elements. The average Midland harrier paces a total of 758 miles per season. Running on three- and four-mile courses cross country runners captured second place in the conference meet held at Dana. Co-captains Leonard Huneke and Dave Meyer were sixth and seventh respectively at conference, leading the march of Midlanders who captured four of the first ten places. The other MLC harriers to place in the top ten were Mark Meyer, eighth, and Duane Pavel, tenth. The stamina and endurance of these athletes is olympic in nature and self-sacrificing is a way of life. These seeds have endured the natural and physiological elements. By inner-strength, these seeds will grow strong.

Midland Basketballlers Mature With Season

The seeds of victory were hard found for the Midland netters. The main set-back for the Warriors was the lack of tall cagers. John Sweeney and Mike Draemel, chosen all conference, led the main attack this season. Sweeney sparked the attack with a 21 point average. With the introduction of Jeff Draemel to the starting five, Midland's potential threat increased markedly. Now with two freshman starters, Bob Landowski and Jeff Draemel, Midland played 500 ball by the end of the season. Coach My Draemel, noting that there were seven freshman who saw much game action, can only predict success in the coming years.

Grapplers Take Second In Tri-State Conference

Midland College wrestling has always proved an above average competitor. This year was certainly not an exception to the rule. Led by senior grapplers Dale Huff and Rod Shada MLC again made a strong showing in the Mid-west. Midland's dual meet record was 7 and 3 also placing 2nd in the Midland Invitational. The two major highlights of the season for the matmen were the capture of 2nd place in the conference tournament, and placing 4th in the District meet. This was the best showing a Midland team has made in this nationally ranked competition. 167 pounder, Dale Huff, captured the District crown and with team mates Rudy Ross and Terri Daily qualified for the national NAIA tournament held in Loch Haven, Pennsylvania. Ross became Midland's first wrestler to place nationally as he earned a fourth place finish in NAIA action. By doing so, he ran his season record to 20-4, best for the Warriors. Other exceptional records were Dale Huff, 16-1-2, Tari Dailey, 14-4 and team captain Rod Shada, 11-4.

Four Point-Getters Return In Midland's 1967 Season

Pre-season conditioning was a big part of Midland's 1967 track squad, as coach Max Kitzelman and the Warrior cindermen "extended" their season with earlier workouts. High hopes are given to a strong pair of shot putters. Returning John Bruce and transfer Virgil Paulson both are familiar with the event. Bruce, in 1966, was the first Tri-State shotputter to break the fifty foot barrier, bettering this mark by over a foot. Midland finished third in the conference race behind Yankton and Westmar. M-Club Gives Service To Midland College

M-Club has been serving Midland ever since the organization was first formulated by taking care of the concession counter at all athletic events. Athletes serve off the field as well as on, and when a fall competitor retires for the season, he usually begins this new type of service. Mic Johnson served as president of the organization in 1966-67, and led the club through another successful year. Activities included initiations, the annual steak fry and a Campus Chest Carnival booth.

Rudy Ross actively concerns himself with the instructor's paddle.

Advisor; Monica Emmanuel, Intramural Director; Cindy Col-
son, Treasurer. Not pictured, Norine Nieman, Secretary.

Polly Jerabek and Ruth Larson, Delta Tau, make sure their team keeps the ball by tying it together.

WRA Keeps Girls Busy Year Round

Women's Recreation Association started the year off with a Saturday brunch, and the WRA program being explained. Bowling began the athletic year with volleyball following. Rounding out the year was basketball, swimming, tennis and archery. A highlight of the year was the dart throwing contest at the Campus Chest Carnival.

Deans Prove Versatile off Campus

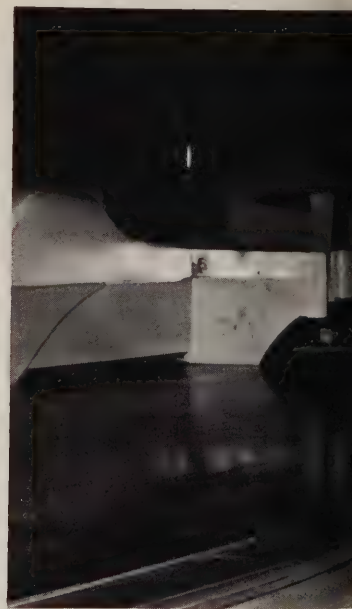

Dean of the College, Dr. Lloyd F. Sinkey, aims at another mallard.

Mrs. Mildred Sic, Dean of Women, proves domestic.

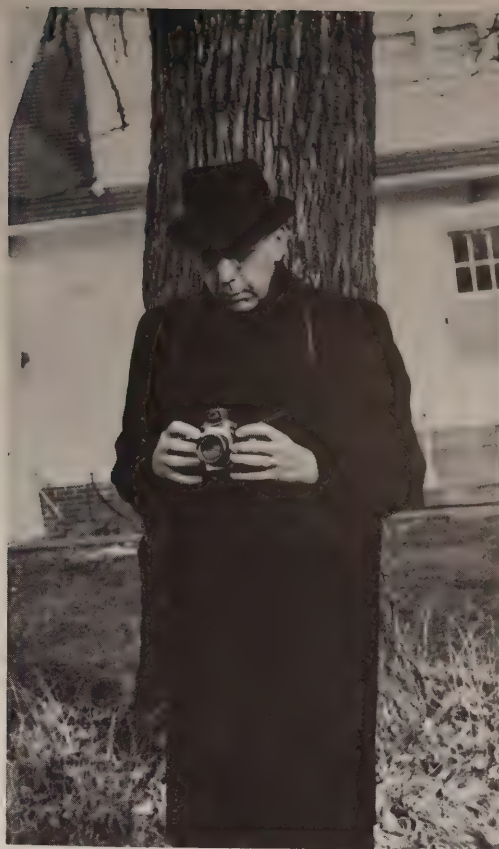

Dean of Men, Caryl A. Steyer, pauses with one of his favorite horses.

Miss Maria M. Rosenblatt, Assistant Professor of German and French, relaxes at home.

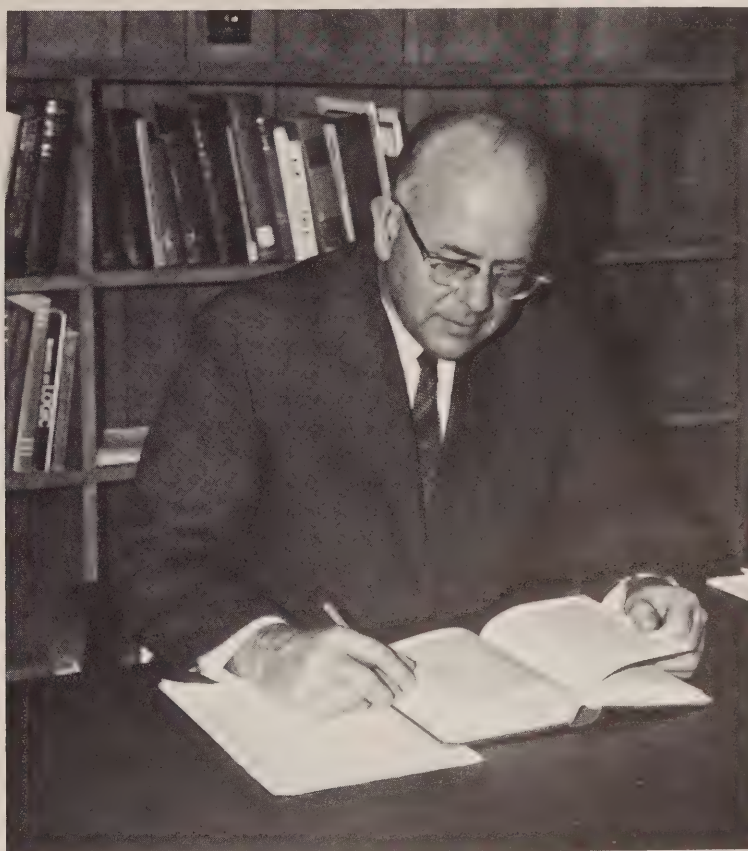

Photography is the favorite hobby of Mr. Herman Gimestad, Professor of English.

Members of the faculty are seldom considered outside the setting of their classrooms. Here their involvement in family, community and personal goals, and in betterment and relaxation is portrayed.

Mr. Melvin H. Day, Assistant Professor of Chemistry, tries for another strike.

Dr. Albert G. Wiederhold, Associate Professor of Philosophy, enjoys creative writing.

Faculty Shows Variety of Interests

Deep thought is involved as Mr. William Walker, Education Instructor, plots the next move against his opponent.

Mrs. Marilyn Peterson, Assistant Professor of English and Journalism, relaxes with one of her many interests, oil painting.

Dr. Donald Wolfarth, Professor of Speech, proudly admires the art work of his son.

Mr. Lewis Peterson, Assistant Professor of English, practices for a local church choir.

Dr. Gerhard Gieschen, part-time instructor of Christianity and acting President of Central Lutheran Seminary, considers the closing decision.

Mr. Max Kitzleman, Assistant Professor of Physical Education keeps the equipment in order.

Miss Marilyn Rolf, Assistant Professor of Business, checks over her assignment sheet.

Mr. L.P. Mitchell, Assistant Professor of Sociology, completes a wood carving.

Faculty Sports Community Interest

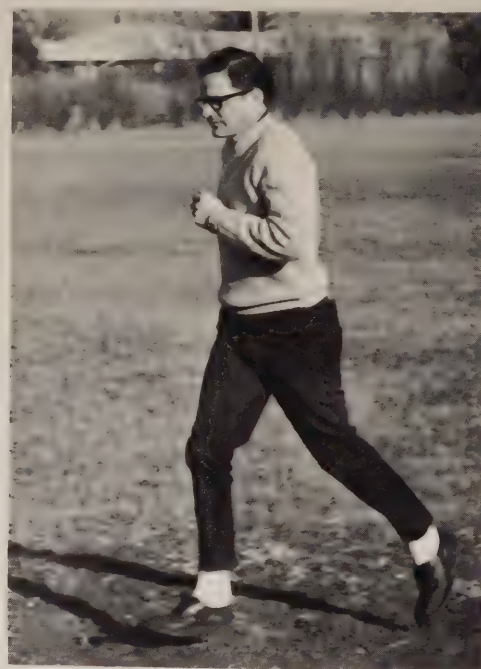

Dr. Keith Knudson, Associate Professor of English, attempts to fix a television set.

Miss Alcyone M. Scott, instructor of English, thumbs through her record collection.

Mr. Glen D. Smith, Assistant Professor of Speech, has fun with his family.

Mr. Norman H. Lewis, instructor in German, believes in keeping physically fit.

Mr. R.M. Johnston, Assistant Professor of Mathematics, is active with his two sons in the Boy Scouts.

Dr. Norma Cochran, Associate Professor of Education, sews for her family.

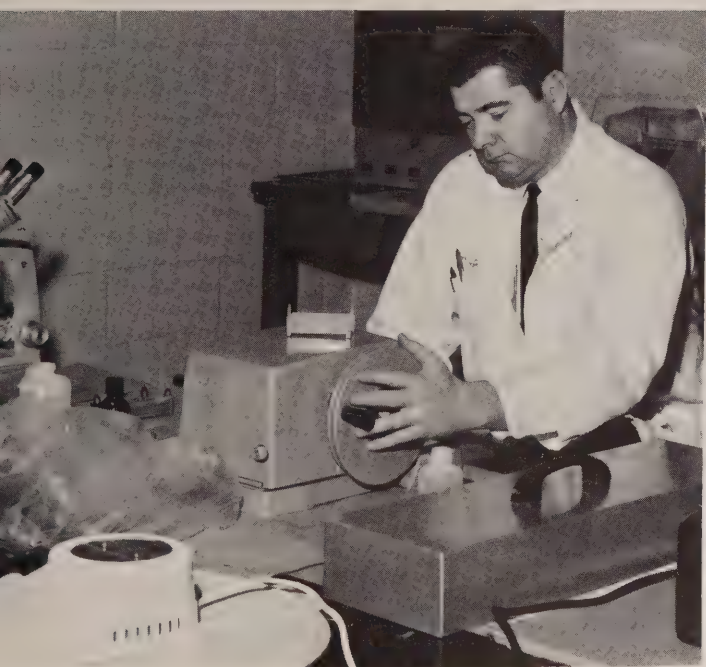

Mr. Edwin E. Prauner, Professor of Business and Economics, is surrounded by his extensive library.

Mr. Sidney Ash, instructor in Natural Sciences, ponders his rock collection.

Mr. Francis L. Keisler, instructor of Mathematics, shows skill at table tennis.

Dr. Gene Kelly, Associate Professor of Biology, studies the new equipment.

Miss Meta Norenberg, Associate Professor of English, puts the finishing touches on a Christmas gift.

Members Enjoy All Types of Recreation

Mr. Robert F. Simpson, instructor of Sociology, hikes another mile.

Rev. Theodore A. Youngquist, College Pastor, contemplates the next sermon.

Dr. Owen Sletten, Associate Professor of Chemistry, portrays a favorite pastime.

Mr. Maynard A. Traeder, Assistant Professor of Economics, boasts a successful flight.

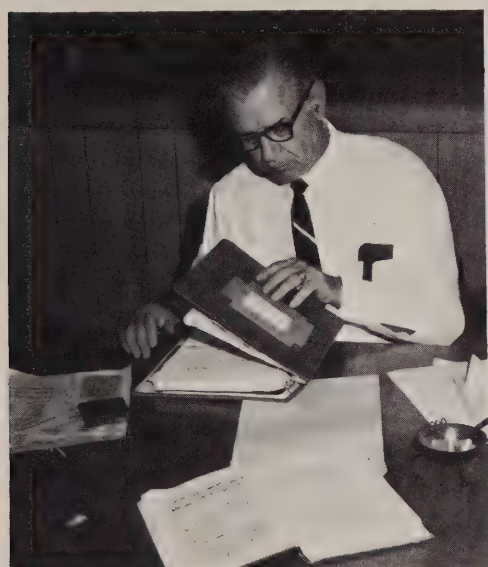

Dr. William E. Christensen, Associate Professor of History, rechecks the materials for his thesis.

Mr. Eugene Nelson, Assistant Professor of Music, starts building a doll house for his daughter, Lori.

Mr. John Gill, Assistant Professor of Speech and Drama, takes time from rehearsal to sit in his favorite chair.

Mr. Walter Olsen, Instructor of Music, checks his next Music Clinic schedule.

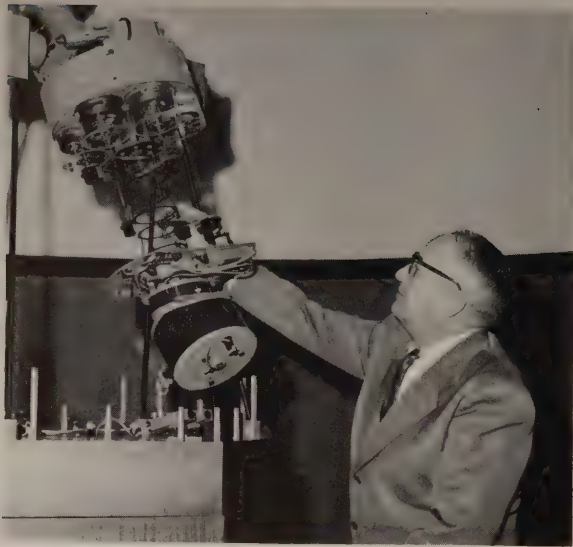

Dr. Orville Zabel, Professor of History, talks with Walter Haag about the benefits of the Air Force.

Miss Jane Rogers, Assistant Professor of Physical Education, gives advice to a student.

Dr. Cecil Walker, Professor of Education, studies the 1966-67 rule changes in football.

Dr. Gilbert Lueninghoener, Professor of Astronomy, Geology and Mathematics, adjusts the star projector to fit a Nebraska evening.

Mr. Myron Draemel, Assistant Professor of Physical Education, contemplates another golfing trophy.

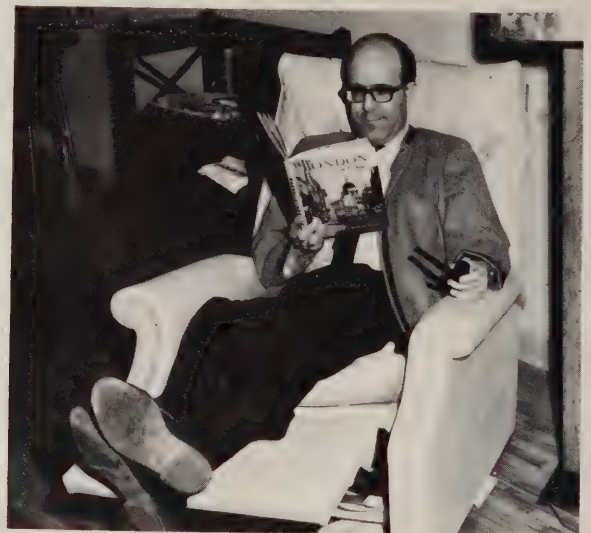

Midland's administration and faculty have been growing, planning and organizing. New members were added in 1966-67. A gradual shifting of counseling duties to Dean Caryl Steyer and Mr. L. P. Mitchell has been initiated. Dr. William Zimmerman and the Divisional Chairmen met to rearrange the school calendar in hopes that the students will be able to take final exams before Christmas with seniors taking comprehensives during the January vacation break beginning the academic year of 1967-68.

Miss Joan Stewart, Instructor in Physical Education, works with the handicapped at the Opportunity Center.

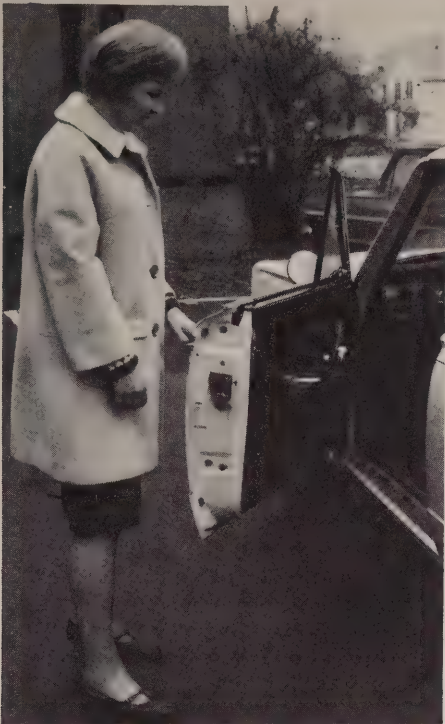

Dr. Donald Kahnk, Associate Professor of Psychology, makes the All-Star team in volleyball.

Mr. Charles Wilhite, Assistant Professor of Music, ponders a summer vacation.

Mr. Martin Trautrimas, Assistant Professor of Spanish and German, discusses his oil painting of the Neuschwanstein Castle with his son Mark.

Seniors Graduate in May; Varied Careers Lie Ahead

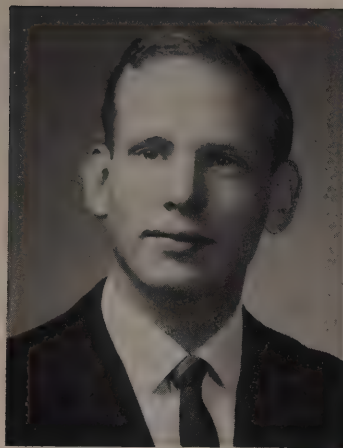

"We are small, but we are mighty," was the cry of the Class of 1967. First semester the seniors busied themselves with preparations for graduation. Courses such as doctrines, observations and special methods filled their schedules. When December rolled around, the seniors were frenzied by the thoughts of comprehensives, graduate record exams and final tests. After the fearful days at the close of the semester, the seniors were able to register for the final time in January. The second semester was a time of trials for the student teachers, completion of applications for graduate schools, and interviews for business positions. Senior women were entertained at a tea by the American Association of University Women later in the year. In the spring they enjoyed the last choir and drama tours and participated in Greek Games. May 28 was the day when diplomas were placed in their hands.

Hardened Juniors Know; Cope With College Ways

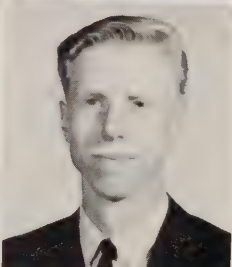

Juniors returned to Midland's campus to begin the last half of their college career. Plans for future occupations were circulating in their minds as they chose methods and 300 courses. Hardened to the rigors of college life, they skipped meals, guzzled coffee or finished term papers ten minutes before class. In addition to these activities time was found for social events, athletics and fellowship. Juniors watched apprehensively as seniors suffered with comprehensives and GRE's knowing all too well their turn was soon to come. Holding the positions of lower campus officers, they watched their upperclassmen conduct student government and prepared to one day assume these reins. Charm Revue and final examinations found the class of '68 shedding their wish for obscurity and assuming the prominence of seniors-to-be.

Sophs No Longer Green; Return With Confidence

The "upperclass sophomores" returned with the confidence they lacked as green freshmen. The faces were familiar, the campus had undergone only a few alterations and they were eager to earn their 1.75 quotients. Registration, with their background experience, took half as much time. As sophomores they were clued in on filling out cards and arranging their schedules in hopes of avoiding 7:40's. Classes ran smoothly until rushing and pledging began in November. It was a new experience being on the upper hand of the humble, lowly pledges. As the year progressed, the sophomores crammed for the English proficiency test and planned and presented the eighth annual Sophomore Talent Show. Final examinations rolled around and a sigh of relief soon followed. The members of the class were half way to their goal, graduation.

Freshmen Register

Sundry Reactions

Discarding letterjackets, yearbooks and other high school mementos, the freshmen of '66 invaded Midland's campus in early September. Beanie babies were exposed to orientation and long registration lines. Holding stacks of books, they waited for what seemed endless hours to purchase them. As the new students acquainted themselves with dorm regulations, they also experienced the constant rush between classes. Greek sponsored dances and pledge parties were highlights of the first semester. Meanwhile, classes encouraged the growth of knowledge through concentration. November saw the climax of one of the hottest campaigns in the College's history as the young Warriors elected their class officers. With a needed Christmas vacation followed by a barrage of first semester finals, the frosh became truly integrated to college life. Second semester saw repeat of a similar routine but not so frightening. The class had progressed from the limits of high school to the freedom of college. The freshmen of '66 became the class of '70.

While Mrs. Sic calls still another name, Geri Brdicko o her sorority bid.
